

LIFELESS FORM OF POPE LEO XIII

Viewed by Cardinals

And Death of the Late Pontiff Is Legally Proclaimed.

Solemn Ceremonies Are Held

In the Silent Death Chamber by Twenty-nine Cardinals of the Sacred College—Conclave for Election of Leo's Successor to Begin August First.

Rome, July 21.—The body of Pope Leo reposed today in the chamber where his last death struggle took place, which for the time being, has been transformed into a mortuary chapel. Beside the bed a small altar has been raised, on which flicker six candles, surrounding a figure of Christ hanging to the cross. The chanting of penitential Psalms, goes on unceasingly, one group of weeping Franciscans succeeding another in the performance of this holy office.

In the meantime today, began the series of impressive ceremonies marking the demise of a Pope, and the initial preparations for the choice of his successor.

The most solemn ceremony was the gathering of the cardinals of the Sacred college, in Leo's death-chamber to officially pronounce the Pontiff dead. This was followed by the historic ceremony of the removal of the fisherman's ring. These ceremonies were carried out with the accompaniment of all that stately pomp marking the rituals for a deceased Pope.

Beyond the performance of these final offices to the dead attention is being turned to the preparations for the approaching conclave. The present expectation is that the conclave will begin August first.

Cardinal Oreglia, dean of the Sacred college, today called together his colleagues for the first time to take part in a formal conference.

Time of Disposition Fixed.
Rome, July 21.—Dr. Lappoul now fixes the precise hour of the Pope's death at 4:06. The fact was immediately communicated to the Associated Press, but under the rule which requires that two hours shall elapse after the doctors pronounce life extinct, before the dean of the Sacred college shall officially announce the death, the telegraph office was unable to forward the message at once.

It left Rome on one of the nineteen wires working from that city to Paris about six o'clock local time (12 o'clock noon, New York time).

Short Conclave.
The Tribune today, publishes an interview with Cardinal Svampa, archbishop of Bologna, who, the paper says, has quite recovered from his stroke of paralysis. The cardinal is quoted as saying:

"I believe that the conclave will be very short, as were the last two. At the utmost, I think it may take one week, as now there does not exist in the sacred college, the marked political differences of other times. Therefore, it will be possible to arrive at an understanding more easily and quicker."

The interviewer asked the cardinal what he thought the policy of the future Pope would be in regard to the so-called Roman question. Will it remain rigidly unchanged, or will the new Pope inaugurate a modus vivendi, which many persons in both camps wish for?

Cardinal Svampa replied: "No one today can say with certainty anything about it. It must not be forgotten that, whoever is elected, will bring something personal into the attitude of Holy See regarding that question, something which more or less must differentiate from the attitude of the former Pope. Besides, every historical fact of great importance brings with it changes which ameliorate or aggravate pre-existing conditions. Every sunrise of each new pected Leo to raise his hand, in his familiar gesture of blessing.

A moment of breathless silence ensued, and then the cardinal Camerlengo, taking the aspersorium, sprinkled the late Pontiff with Holy Water, and said in a firm voice:

"Gloacchino" (the Christian name of the deceased Holy Father.) When there was no answer, the same word was repeated three times, louder and louder. After which, turning to the kneeling cardinals, the Camerlengo solemnly announced:

"Papa Vera Mortuus Est," (the Pope is really dead.)

As the words were uttered, there arose from the kneeling cardinals, a sigh like that of the wind in the trees at night, a tribute paid to the late Pontiff by these princely heads of the church.

After this, in voices trembling with emotion, the ranking cardinals recited the de profundis, gave absolution, and sprinkled the body with Holy Water.

Following the ceremony of the recognition of the death of the Pope, by the sacred college came another, shorter, but no less significant and symbolic. On Leo's finger was the famous fisherman's ring, which the Camerlengo, with a whispered prayer, drew gently off, and which, later will be broken in the presence of the cardinals, reset and presented to the new Pope, when he is elected.

The ring is of very great antiquity. It is even said to have belonged to St. Peter himself. It is stone of little value, cut with the scene of St. Peter drawing in fishing nets. It was first used about the year 1265, but for secret documents, it was only used later. Officially it is one of the symbols of office, most prized by the church. Although lost two or three times, it has always been recovered.

Hundreds of offers have come from Italy and abroad from doctors, druggists and specialists for the embalming of the remains of Pope Leo, but, naturally, not one of them has been accepted.

Cardinal Rampolla intended to leave the Vatican last night, immediately after the death of the Pope, when, having officially announced the demise of the Pontiff to the diplomatic body accredited to the Vatican, and to the papal nuncios, with instructions to have the news communicated to the various foreign rulers, he considered his duties as papal secretary of state to have been ended.

Rampolla was on the point of leaving when Cardinal Oreglia insistently begged him to remain in the appointment he had occupied for over sixteen years and the secretary of state acceded to the request.

The Vicar of Rome, Cardinal Pietro Respighi, has caused to be attached to the doors of the churches, an announcement of the death of Pope Leo, with instructions regarding the prayers to be offered and also giving information about the funeral services.

The government of the Catholic church has been officially assumed by Cardinal Oreglia as dean of the Sacred college, and as dean of the cardinal bishops. He will be assisted by the deans of the other two orders of cardinals, Cardinal Macchia, for the cardinal deacons and Cardinal Rampolla for the cardinal priests, the last,

SUCCESS IS ASSURED

Government Forces But It Comes With Awful Loss of Life.

Soldiers on Both Sides Have Had No Food for Two Days. No Ambulances Are Being Used, Yet Fighting Still Continues.

Soledad, Venezuela, Monday, July 20.—10 a. m.—Since the last dispatch was sent to the Associated Press at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, the battle between the revolutionary forces at Ciudad Bolivar and the Venezuelan government army, commanded by Gen. Gomez, has raged madly. Block after block was destroyed; the government troops entering the city slowly.

All the houses had been barricaded, and the revolutionists had been firing from flat roofs, called Asoteas. When the revolutionists finally abandoned the houses, after having taken all that could be used for barricades or otherwise to stop the advance of the government troops, they were immediately occupied by the government soldiers, who bored big holes in them so as to communicate with the next house. The city appears to have been struck by a cyclone.

At seven o'clock this evening, the government force, which was advancing from all directions arrived near the center of Ciudad Bolivar. For two hours previously firing had diminished, but it was renewed with more vigor at ten o'clock at night and illuminated the sky.

At three o'clock in the morning, when the inhabitants of the commercial and foreign parts of the city, near the Alameda, saw the advance of the government troops, they all abandoned their homes, and sought refuge in other parts of the city, crossing the streets amidst a hail of bullets and shells, the women carrying their children, the strong helping the weak. Many men in trying to protect the women, fell struck by bullets, in the middle of the streets. What with the firing, the yells of the wounded, and the crying of the women and children, a terrible scene was witnessed, bad enough to disgust any body forever with civil war.

The government troops, however, acted with humanity especially the forces of Gen. Rivas, who, fighting bravely, was the first to order the attacking force to be merciful. At eight o'clock this morning, the government generals having effected a junction of their forces, north and south, and having received further supplies of ammunition, decided to push the attack on the centre of the city.

At ten o'clock the government troops had captured the north side of the Alameda, the public park of Ciudad Bolivar, which has been defended by a double row of barricades. Behind one of these, were found more than thirty dead soldiers lying top of each other, while wounded men were seen on all sides.

At ten o'clock the government commanders seeing that only the artillery could make a breach in the barricades of the Alameda, ordered 12 guns to open fire on them, and at the same time the Venezuelan fleet, which had changed its anchorage so as to bring its guns to bear effectively on the city, opened fire.

The soldiers on both sides have had no food for two days, no ambulances are being used and yet the fighting continues.

Monday (4 p. m.) the advance of the government troops has reached the market place. The old custom's house and the water works have been taken. The Dalton block, the property of the United States consul, where all the leading German and French firms reside, is now being attacked.

The jail is the center of a terrible resistance. All the defeated revolutionists have concentrated there. It is estimated that more than two hundred men have been killed in that vicinity. The artillery of the revolutionists is fiercely replying to the attack of the fleet. For ten hours past, the fleet has been shelling La Soledad, which has suffered terribly.

The capitol is still in possession of the revolutionists, but the complete success of the government forces is assured.

PEOPLE WERE MUCH EXCITED

By Incendiary Fire. Militia Called Out. Ewen Remained in Car.

Jackson, Ky., July 21.—The military court house today under a strong camp was alarmed at 2 a. m., by the guard and insisted that the grand jury cry of fire and by shots fired by the first consider the cases of Crawford provost guards. Two details of troops and Tharp, charged with setting fire were sent into town. The fire was not a witness as he was in camp near the depot in a small house but the people were wildly excited for fear it was a repetition of the Ewen fire. Investigation showed it was of incendiary origin and a negro is suspected.

B. J. Ewen remained in the express car in which he was brought from Lexington until 1 a. m., when he was escorted to camp. He appeared at the court house that cause dissatisfaction.

River by Collision on Canadian Pacific. Four Bodies Were Recovered.

Two cars were thrown into the river. Four bodies have been recovered so far and there is thought to be one more body still in the wreck at the bottom of the river.

SACRED COLLEGE

Of Cardinal Which Will Elect a Successor to Pope Leo XIII.

Three Parties Constitute College and Supporters of Leo Were Few. Nearly All of Present College Are Italians--Temporal Power Question.

The sacred college of cardinals which will elect Leo XIII's successor is now composed of 64 members. When the college is full, its total membership is 70. Twenty-five of the cardinals live in Rome and form the Roman curia, so often mentioned. A majority of the cardinals are of Italian birth. There are three orders in the sacred college--bishops, priests and deacons. But these orders belong exclusively to the college, and have nothing to do with the dignity held by the cardinal outside of the college. For example, Archbishop Gibbons, of Baltimore, is in the college a priest. There are six cardinal bishops when all the offices are filled.

Not very many others are represented in the college because most orders compel the taking of vows not to seek preferment and to accept the same only when ordered to do so by the Pope himself. The only Jesuit in the college is Steinhilber, a cardinal deacon. The senior bishop in the college is the senior priest is first priest and the senior deacon is first deacon. The cardinal dean consecrates the new Pope and the cardinal who is first deacon proclaims and crowns him.

Few Supporters of Pope. There are three parties in the college, according to the views of the members support of or opposition to the Pope. The supporters of Pope Leo in the college were few--it is said not above one-third of the cardinalate, it is many. His opponents numbered fully 30 and about 10 took no special stand. The chief point of division was the proper course of the church toward the Italian government--the temporal power question. In representing the college diplomatically Cardinal Rampolla has been secretary of state, Cardinal Machi, major agent. The vice chancellor has been Cardinal Paronchi.

Each cardinal takes title from some church in Rome, and this is only dropped, not changed, when a cardinal becomes, through advancement, a cardinal bishop, and for the time takes title from the See. Cardinals belong to various committees, as the propaganda, some are prefects or heads of the congregations and most of them protectors or attorneys for Catholic societies in different parts of the world, but chiefly in Europe.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea.
"About six years ago for the first time in my life I had a sudden and severe attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again, or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents, cured me." For sale by Wm. M. Melville, old post-office corner.

Special Fares to California via Pennsylvania Lines.

Valuable Time Saved.
Slight injuries often disable a man and cause several days' loss of time and when blood poison develops, sometimes result in the loss of hand or limb. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment. When applied to cuts, bruises, and burns it causes them to heal quickly and without maturation, and prevents any danger of blood poison. For sale by Wm. M. Melville, old postoffice corner.

DEATH

Resulted From At- tack of Apoplexy

And the Victim

Was Former Resident of South Side.

S. J. Moore, of Bellefontaine, Gives Good Entertain- ment on Joan of Arc.

New Business Firm on South Side. Pirates Indulge in Luxury of a New Outfit. Personal Paragraphs.

A letter received by J. C. Mack yesterday brought the additional information that Frank Stevenson, who dropped dead at Deshler at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning, was stricken with apoplexy. Many of our readers will remember Stevenson, who worked here at the Fee saw-mill about a year and a half ago. Since leaving here he has been the day-hoiler in the C. H. & D. shops at Deshler. It is a curious coincidence that Stevenson's father was stricken down suddenly in a somewhat similar manner not more than two years ago.

Deceased left a wife and several little ones to mourn their loss. He was a cousin of Mrs. John Mack, of south Central avenue, and a brother of Mrs. Isaac Ryan, of east Market street.

Yesterday Charles Stevenson, of Unionopolis, an uncle of the deceased, passed through here enroute to Deshler to attend the funeral which will take place tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock.

Joan of Arc.

Last evening at St. Johns hall a good crowd enjoyed Mr. S. J. Moore's graphic entertainment on "Joan of Arc." Mr. Moore came here from Bellefontaine well recommended, and those who went to hear him and see his pictures, were not disappointed.

After a number of preliminary pictures, the entertainer went to the real attraction of the evening. The life of Joan of Arc was reproduced in a very realistic manner, and all were pleased with the hour thus spent.

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only treatable, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, putting it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Mr. T. Knappe, of Nevada, O., says: "I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. Took Kodol, Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me."

Kodol Digests What You Eat
and relieves the stomach of all nervous strain and the heart of all pressure.

New Suits.
The Pirates are indulging in the luxury of new base-ball suits at the expense of their friends. The suits, which are to be maroon and white were ordered last evening and it is expected that Spaulding will fill the order this week. The boys are still looking for more scalps. Two Kenton lads were in town yesterday looking for a game, and the boys will probably have a game there soon.

About People.
The Kraft Shoe company is treating its furniture to a coat of varnish. It is quite an improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bustader, of Sidney, O., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, of south Jackson street.

Mr. Schrock has been looking for property here, and in case he can dispose of his property in McKeesport to advantage, he will probably locate on the south side.

Mr. and Mrs. John Haines, of Columbus, O., were the guests over Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, of south Jackson street.

Charley Mooney is displaying a new coffee case, the compliments of the Thompson and Taylor Spice & Coffee Company.

The latest development of the Arcade-Transfer game is a highly developed case of fraternal affection.

A Question.

We have been frequently asked why tickets are only 25c for such a program as that to be given at violin concert at Congregational church next Wednesday evening and we desire to say in reply that it is Miss Watson's idea that the price of admission should be put at such a figure that it would be possible for every music student in the city to attend the concert. 22c

CHANGE NAME AND DECREASE

Eleven additional battalions have been mustered to replace sixteen which were recently disbanded.

A SHERIFF'S CARES.

The life of a sheriff, while it is not all rosy hued and pleasant, is nevertheless one much sought after during political campaigns and the aspirants sometimes make promises that they afterwards find it difficult to keep. Their chief source of annoyance lies in the persistent requests that are made of them to appoint some of their supporters as deputies when some easy job is in sight.

One of the sheriffs of a nearby county said the other day: "I wish there was no such thing as a deputy. I get tired of being importuned by some one to accompany me on trips to the penitentiary with a prisoner. People seem to think that I ought to have an additional guard with me every time I bring any sort of a prisoner down, and then they get mad when I refuse to certify to the judge that I have a desperate prisoner and feel the need of an added guard. I feel foolish coming to the pen with a small sized prisoner and a big deputy tagging along behind, just because he wants to make the trip to Columbus free of charge."

Local operators are taking advantage of the excellent weather conditions, and pushing the drill as rapidly as possible, but during the past few days, the principal work has been done in portions of the field which have not heretofore attracted so much attention.

The best well of the week, all things considered, was the Delphos Hoop Co. No. 4, on the J. W. Rupert farm, in section 10, Spencer township, two miles west of Spencerville. This well made 110 barrels, the first day, and is the more noticeable being in that end of the field.

The Ohio Oil company has completed a test on the David Ditto farm, in section 8, of Marion township, 3 1/2 miles southeast of Delphos, which will make a fair little well. It started off at 25 barrels, in 24 hours after it was shot.

Maire Bros' No. 8, on the J. Monfort farm, in section 29, Amanda, did not look very good, making but 8 barrels the first day.

The Wilson Oil and Gas Co., has No. 11, on the C. G. Post farm, in section 8, Amanda, completed, and it is a 20 barrel producer.

South of Beaver Dam, in section 5, Jackson, J. B. Kerr and Co., got a 40 barrel well at No. 4, on the Cunningham heirs farm.

Near Mt. Cory, in Union township, of Hancock county, the Ohio Oil Co., has a 60 barrel well at No. 8, Philip Schwinn, section 24, and the Detroit Oil Co., has one of the same size in No. 20, J. B. Waggoner, section 24.

Down in Mercer county, the Ohio Oil company, got a splendid well in the Black Creek township district. It was No. 7, on the G. Bailey farm, in section 20, and made 150 barrels the first day. The No. 6, on this farm, was completed about the same time and is a 20 barrel well.

Northwest of Delphos, in section 17, of Washington township, Van Wert county, the second well drilled by Young and Price, on the Tausseg farm was a first class producer. It made 125 barrels the first day. This is a comparatively new pool, and will be more thoroughly tested.

The Ohio Oil Co., has a 55 barrel well in No. 2, on the J. Foar farm, section 25, Willschire township, Van Wert county, west of Ohio City. The Trio Oil Co.'s No. 7, on A. Miller farm, in section 27, of Liberty township, southwest of Ohio City, was a better well, making 90 barrels.

Drilling Second Well.
Saturday, the United States, Texas and Oklahoma Oil Co., commenced drilling their second oil well in Bryan. This is placed about two blocks from their first well, on Cherry street. Other wells are being planned. The first well has been yielding from fifty to one hundred barrels per day, steady, and from all appearances, will hold to this amount.

Immense Gusher.
New Orleans, La., July 21.—The oil gusher recently struck at Jennings, Louisiana, is beyond control and throws out stones and pipes. It is flowing at the rate of 1800 barrels a day.

The board of directors includes the above officers together with H. W. Lloyd, of Toledo, and H. H. Picking, the latter being a resident of New Jersey.

The new company will take over the theatres, bill-posting plants, etc., in the cities mentioned and the several pending leases, but not the Toledo houses or the house at Akron. In Toledo and Akron the enterprises are in the hands of partnerships.

however, merely as a substitute for Cardinal Netto, the patriarch of Lisbon, who, when he arrives, will take his own duties.

The cardinals present in Rome, met
this morning, under Cardinal Oreglia, in a preparatory congregation, held in the hall of the consistory. Oreglia communicated to them the first instructions he has given since the death of the Pope, informing them of the numerous messages of condolence received from all parts of the world, and of the universal mourning for Leo XIII. An exchange of ideas took place regarding the ceremonies preceding the conclave. When Cardinal Oreglia asked for the advice of one of the cardinals present, the latter replied:

"It is difficult to give advice. Indeed you must teach us what to do as not one of us has ever participated in a conclave."

WILHELM

Extends Sympathy and Eulogizes the Late Pontiff.

The following telegram dated Molde
Norway, has been received by Cardinal Oreglia, from the German Emperor:

"I am painfully affected by the sad news I have just received. I send to the illustrious college of cardinals,
the expression of my sincere sympathy at the grievous loss the Roman Catholic church has sustained through the demise of the Pope. I shall always retain a faithful memory of the exalted and venerable man who was a personal friend of mine, and whose extraordinary gifts of heart and mind compelled my admiration anew only a few weeks ago, on the occasion of my last visit to Rome.

WILHELM I. R.
Princes of the Blood.

From the Vatican, 20.4th of July, 1903.—The Italian government has given orders to the railroad officials that cardinals coming to Rome, for the conclave, shall be considered princes of the blood, and have reserved compartments, or saloon cars placed at their disposal from the frontier.
In addition instructions have been given to all the government authorities to put themselves at the disposal of the cardinals, if they are requested to do so, and to leave nothing undone for their accommodation and protection.

ARRANGEMENTS

At Vatican Are Being Pressed for An Early Conclave.

Rome, July 21.—According to a statement coming from a high ecclesiastic, arrangements at the Vatican are being pressed forward which will enable the conclave of Cardinals to begin sitting August 1. However, it is now thought the sessions may be considerably longer than at first expected, even long enough to permit Cardinal Moran, of Sydney, N. S. W., to arrive in time to take part in the proceedings. An ambassador accredited to the Vatican, says the question of Pope Leo's successor is a peculiarly open one at the present moment.

The personality of the candidates plays a much more important part than in any preceding conclave, since the conditions prevailing in the past are now entirely changed. Formerly the sacred college was divided into several distinct parties. There was,
first, that composed of the cardinals
who were members of the great Roman families, nearly every one of which was represented in the college.
These always exerted very powerful influence in the election of a Pope.
At the present time there is only one section of a great Roman house among the Cardinals, namely Cardinal Rat-tazzi Casali Del Drago, who, from the standpoint of the election of a new Pontiff, is relatively unimportant.
Then there were parties composed of Cardinals appointed by the same Pope, who usually ranged themselves into separate bodies. In addition to the members of the Sacred college appointed by the Pope who had then just passed away, there were usually considerable numbers chosen by his predecessor and even a few nominated by the Pope preceding him. In consequence of Leo XIII's long reign, these parties have entirely disappeared. In the present conclave there will be only one Cardinal, Cardinal Oreglia, who was appointed by Pope Leo.

As a result of these changes, the approaching conclave will be much more under the influence of individual candidates than in the past, rendering it impossible to forecast the election with any degree of certainty. It is considered highly probable that the new Pope will be a man at present not thought of and not talked about.

BULLS

Were Left Which Will Change Method
of Selecting Successor.

New York, July 21.—An unverified report published by the Temps, and cabled by the Paris correspondent of the Herald, says:

"At the death of Leo XIII, a certain number of bulls were found, which partly changed the form of the conclave. This, in fact, will not longer be a conclave, properly speaking, as the cardinals will not be restricted as to their movements.

"They will simply assemble twice a day for deliberations, and balloting without being constrained to live in common, which is always harrowing for ill and infirm cardinals.

"They will take an oath each time
they leave the Vatican to reveal nothing, and not to be influenced by any foreign government.

"The Pope has a right to modify the method of election, and bulls to that effect remain in force until modified or abrogated by a succeeding Pope. Leo XIII, shortly before the death of Pius IX, when he was Camerlingo, made several modifications in the rules governing the conclave. It is unlikely therefore, that he had planned other modifications more essential and appropriate to modern times."

Winter Wheat Harvest is Nearly Completed, Except in North-
early States—Spring
Wheat Light.

Washington, July 21.—The weather
bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions is as follows.

"While the temperature in the central valleys, lake region, and Atlantic coast districts has averaged considerably below normal, no unfavorable effects from cool weather are apparent from the reports, except in portions of the middle and south Atlantic states, where growth was checked to some extent. The need of rain continues in portions of the lower Ohio and central Mississippi valleys, North Dakota,
northern Minnesota, and Western Texas, and is beginning to be felt in the central gulf states, Oklahoma, southwestern Kansas and portions of the Carolinas. Local storms, in places, accompanied by hail, proved damaging in the upper Missouri, upper Mississippi and Ohio valleys, and lake region. Conditions on the Pacific coast were favorable, although light frosts caused slight damage in Washington
during the early part of the week.

Corn has made favorable advancement in all districts, but in the principal corn states, it is variable as to size and conditions, being generally small especially in the central and eastern districts or the corn belt. As a rule the crop is in a good state of cultivation, except in the upper Ohio valley, and middle Atlantic states.

Winter wheat harvest is practically completed, except in a few of the more northerly states. Weather conditions have been favorable for thrashing, which work is in progress,
the yields continuing light.

The reports respecting spring wheat
are not favorable.

home on east Wayne street, and resulting from dropsy and heart trouble,
after she had patiently suffered an

That a New Office Has Been Created.

J. E. Gould Tendered Posi-

of Local Shops.

Mr. Gould Has Been With Queen &
Crescent, and Is Expected to Arrive in Lima Today
or Tomorrow.

A new master mechanic is coming to Lima and will be an addition to the C. H. & D. official force. So much seems to be assured, and there is every reason to believe from the rumor that the gentleman will be J. E.
Gould now with the Queen & Crescent road at Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mr. Cory, superintendent of motive power, is not in the city, and could not be seen in regard to the new situation, but it is a well known fact that Mr. Gould was in Lima a short time ago, having knowledge at that time, that the new position would be created for him if he would accept it.
Later information from an authoritat-ed source has it that Mr. Gould has accepted the appointment and will arrive in Lima today or tomorrow.

His coming will not be likely to make any official force atotatoatoin make any change in the present official force at the shops, but the step now taken is an indication that the company may divide the labor necessary in the operation of the northern division of the C. H. & D., and the Findlay, Ft. Wayne & Western, which was recently purchased.

Demented Negro Taken Into Cas-

Mayor's Court.

Edward McDilldo, a picture agent,
for whom the police have been searching for several days, was found and arrested on the public square this afternoon by officer Fenstermaker. An affidavit had been filed in mayor's court by Miss Ida Ward, charging Mc-Dilldo with having purloined a gold watch that belongs to her. The prisoner admitted, at the police station, that he had "borrowed" the young lady's watch and said he had pawned it in Celina. He may also have some explanations to make concerning some deals in the picture business,
made in this city.

Thinks He's a Soldier.
About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon sergeant Bacom and patrolman Neubright were called to the north yards of the C. H. & D. to take charge of a demented colored man who was walking to and fro along the tracks doing sentry duty with a broom for a "Krag." At the police station the prisoner gave his name as Charles Sanders but the officers were unable to secure any other information concerning him.

The man is still a prisoner at the police station and shows no improvement in his mental condition.

Another "Dirty Dozen."
The police have received considerable complaint from dealers at the

were arraigned in mayor's court this morning and were fined $1.00 each.

This morning at nine-thirty o'clock,
at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Heffner, of west Wayne street, a small circle of near and dear relatives
witnessed the marriage of Miss Ethel Heffner to Mr. James Robb Meily.
The rooms were in pretty summer attire and Miss Ray Heffner, sister of the bride, played Rubenstein's melody in F, for the approach of the young couple. The bride wore a dainty gown of white organdie over white India silk, the bodice trimmed with medallions of lace. A yoke of white chiffon and lace outlined the numerous panels on the skirt. Rev. George Lord, pastor of the First Baptist church, said the words uniting their lives in holy wedlock. A wedding breakfast was enjoyed and then the young couple left on the noon train for the north, Mackinac being their headquarters for the next three weeks.
On their return they will be at home
to their many friends, in the cozy cottage, bought and furnished by the groom on Jameson avenue.

Another Hard Drive.

New York, July 21.—Another drive against the specialties carried the general list under last night, again.
But the standard railroad list moved narrowly and showed resistance. The steel stocks were notably weak, United States Steel losing 1½ and the preferred 2½; Tennessee Coal 3, and Republic Steel, preferred, 2½. Metropolitan Street railway lost 2, the Securities Co. 3, Realty, preferred, 1½;

3½, and Erie, second preferred, Baltimore and Ohio, preferred, and Pacific

and New York Central, Union Pacific,

over last night. Great Northern preferred jumped 6, Lake Erie and West-

were irregular.

The report of State Pension Agent
Jones for the quarter ending July 3, finished shows that the department
here paid out pensions aggregating over $2,000,000 during April, May and June.

The Ohio agency has a pension population of 102,000 persons, which is 3,000 less than it was when General
Jones came into office.

About 800 soldiers of the Spanish-American war were added to the roll,
but an order from the commissioners several years ago, that all persons living elsewhere, must be transferred to the agency of the same where they reside, was the means of the Ohio agency losing over 1,000.

Before that Ohio had the largest payroll in the United States, but now the Topeka, (Kan.) office, which has several states in its territory heads the list.

Ohio's quarterly report is as follows:
Total paid invalids, general law,
$1,530,691.63, distributed as follows:
Army nurses, $1,548; widows, $364, 926.34; minors, $2,656.68; dependent relatives, $28,222.20.

Total for invalids, war with Spain

dependent relatives, regular establishment, $195.60.

Under the invalids' act, June 27, 1890, $1,263,475.81 was paid out as follows: Widows, $337,608.99; minors, $9,771.93.93; dependent relatives, $13,536; helpless children, $2,947.13.

Miscellaneous—Dependent relatives,

MADNESS IN COLORS.

TINTS THAT WILL TURN THE BRAIN
AND INVITE DEATH.

Purple is the Most Lethal of All
Hues, and Scarlet is Nearly as Bad.
Blue Will Stimulate the Brain, but It Will Wreck the Nerves.

If purple walls and red tinted windows surrounded you for a month, with no color but purple around you, by the end of that time you would be a madman. No matter how strong the brain might be, it would not stand the strain,
and it is doubtful if you would ever recover your reason, for purple is the most dangerous color there is in its effects on the brain, which it reaches by way of the nerves of the eye.

A splash or two of any other color in the room would save your reason for some time longer, but dead purple would kill you eventually as surely as would foul air. Scarlet is as bad, but scarlet has a different effect. It produces what is called homicidal mania
—a madness that drives its victim to kill his fellows, especially his nearest relatives. Even on animals scarlet has this effect. It will drive a bull or a tiger to charge a naked spear. But purple, on the contrary, brings on melancholy or suicidal mania.

Blue, as long as there is no trace of red in it, stimulates the brain and helps it, but its effect on your nerves, if you are saturated with it and cannot get away from it, is terrible. Scientists class blue as a kind of drug in its effects on the brain.

It excites the imagination and gives a craving for music and stagecraft, but it has a reaction that wrecks the nerves. If you doubt it stare hard for a few minutes at a large sheet of bright blue paper or cloth—not flowers, for there is a good deal of green in their blue—and you will find that it will make your eyes ache and give you a restless, uneasy feeling.

Green, on the other hand, is the king of colors, and no amount of it can do any harm. On the contrary, it soothes the whole system and preserves the eyesight. If you were shut up in an artificial green light for a month it would develop your eyesight immen-sely, but it would be fatal, because when you returned to the world you would be utterly unable to stand ordinary lights and colors and you would certainly contract ophthalmia, or possibly destroy the optic nerve altogether unless you were very mindful to take great care.

Most people imagine the sky in clear weather to be blue. It is really white tinged with green. It is only the dis-

READY

To Take Up the Rag Ends

Of the Term.

Present Week Will End Legal Disputes

So Far as Dealings With the Court and Decisions Are Concerned.

Judge Cunningham and Judge Mathers Will Give Local Attorneys Their Attention for Three Days.

Thursday has been set aside as a day of all sorts in common pleas court, and there will be a general clearing up of legal affairs. The occasion offers many opportunities to get rid of pressing matters, and Judge Cunningham has a schedule which will take the best part of two days.

Among some of the matters to be considered will be the entry of the findings in the will of the late Wm. Bice; the property interests between Mary E. and Geo. W. Moyer; the hearing of motions for new trials, and passing on those which have been submitted.

There is likely to be several urgent divorce suits presented, the court having decided to give such as are pressing a hearing, and a portion of Saturday will be devoted to cases of that nature.

Judge Mathers will also be present Thursday, for the purpose of passing on the motion to discharge the receiver in the Union Oil Company controversy; and will also preside in the hearing which grows out of the proposition to prevent a sale of the new high school bonds. There are at least half a dozen other cases awaiting a final disposition which, it is hoped, will settle the legal squabble between the factions at West Calro.

The close of the present week will see the end of the long spring and summer term of court, but a day will be fixed for the confirming of sales, at which time there will be an adjournment until the 7th of September, a special case having been assigned for that day.

Court House Briefs. Yesterday was the last day for the payment of the semi-annual tax, and Treasurer Gensel and Deputy Guy Curtis, were on the jump from early morning, taking care of the tag end of property holders.

A Big Ditch. The commissioners today approved the bonds of those who will do the work on the big Grubb-Miller ditch, Sugar Creek and German townships. There were 45 bonds in all, and hold the workers to the completion of the largest ditch which has come to the notice of the commissioners during Auditor Feltz's term of office, extending a distance of nearly 12 miles. There have been longer joint county ditches, but the one referred to is in Allen county alone.

Insane Prisoners. Charles Saunders, the colored man, who was picked up yesterday evening, and believed to be demented, was transferred to the county jail today to await the holding of an inquest.

Laid Out By a Wreck. Sheriff Barr has returned from Gallopis, where he escorted a patient to the epileptic hospital. He had a tiresome trip, being laid out 12 hours at Logan, O., on account of a wreck on the Hocking Valley railroad, which disabled a carnival company.

THE IDLER.

The word comes from the reservoir that there is scarcely an empty cottage or "shanty" to be had, and that the number enjoying an outing at the various points on the big body of water, is larger than ever before. No extraordinary catches of bass, either as to size or number, are being bragged about by any of the Lima returns, the sport running rather to buckets full of blue gills.

AVERAGE OF SIXTY MOST

Active Stocks, Wednesday Was $89.18.
Lowest Record Since May, 1901.

At the lowest point on Wednesday the average of the sixty most active railway stocks was $89.18, surpassing all low records since the memorable collapse on May 9, 1901, when the average touched $86.25. In neither case was liquidation in Wall street due to depression in legitimate business, being confined to stock market and financial influences. Conditions continued satisfactory outside the region of speculation, many reports indicating further improvement. During recent months the two disturbing factors have been labor controversies and weather conditions, but each week has brought better things in these two respects until the outlook contains much that is encouraging. Crops are making rapid progress and the army of unemployed is diminishing. Railway traffic is heavy, earnings thus far reported for July exceeding last year's by 13.6 per cent, and those of 1901 by 19.2 per cent. Extensive preparations are being made to move the crops and it is hoped that no blockades will occur, although there is some doubt as to whether adequate motive power can be secured. Retail trade in seasonable merchandise is fully up to the average, and there is less than the customary midsummer quiet among wholesalers, while the preparations of jobbers and manufacturers indicate confidence in a large fall business. Bank exchanges at New York for the week were 9.6 per cent, smaller than a year ago and 19.2 per cent, less than in 1901, while at other leading cities there was a loss of 3 from last year, and a gain of 3.4 over 1901.

Unsettled conditions still exist in forge and foundry pig iron markets, while Bessemer iron is only barely steady. The chief difficulty appears to be the inclination of prospective purchasers to wait for the lowest possible quotations. This is a condition to be expected in a declining market, but appears unusually aggravating in the present instance. Current consumption is heavy and the delay is only in connection with distant deliveries. Structural steel begins to reflect the settlement of labor troubles in the building trades, but several important undertakings have been postponed until next year, two large buildings at Pittsburgh being conspicuous examples. Wage scales in the steel industry are being arranged amicably in most cases, the boiler-makers having agreed to arbitration. Merchant steel and pipe are in better demand, several large contracts being under negotiation. Steel rails are sold well into 1901, and other railway equipment is still one of the best features in the industry. Southern iron furnaces and steel mills, are affected adversely by the coal miners' strike, although there is a belief that settlement will not long be delayed.

It is a season of uncertainty in the manufacture of cotton goods, and nothing in the nature of improvement can be expected until the artificial position of the raw material is radically altered. Supplies of cotton goods, in first hands are low and there is no effort to make spot sales. Buyers fill their requirements for immediate distribution, but in no department of this great industry, is there any inclination to anticipate needs of even the near future. As supplies diminish, there is a corresponding stiffening of quotations, although in most cases, the lack of transactions renders now figures nominal. Mills are steadily curtailing production, both here and abroad. Exports of heavy brown cottons, are insignificant.

New light weight woollens are being opened with fair results only, buyers exhibiting no anxiety regarding the future. Next week, the situation will be more definitely established by the offering of standard clay worsteds and serges. Silks are firm owing to curtailed production, and the high prices commanded by the raw material. Western jobbers are operating freely in the Boston footwear market, both on contracts for spring goods and supplementary fall orders. Eastern wholesalers are also purchasing additional fall supplies, and New England factories are fully occupied.

It was natural that a satisfactory official report as to grain condition should produce a lower level of quotations, the more so because prices were abnormally inflated, and the weather was even more favorable after July 1, the latest date covered by the department estimate. Trade and other private estimates promise a total yield of the three leading cereals fully equal to any preceding record. Exports of wheat and flour for the crop year were about $91,000,000 bushels, somewhat less than the average for recent years. Inquiries are numerous now for foreign account, but prices prevent liberal engagements. Shipments for the week were 1,868,736 bushels, against 2,545,560 bushels last year and 4,349,268 two years ago. Western receipts were also restricted, 2,520,472 bushels arriving during the past week compared with 4,457,224 a year ago. Corn fails to exhibit the customary large gain over last year's figures, receipts of 2,923,661 bushels comparing with 2,899,983 a year ago, but Atlantic coast exports were 911,964 bushels, against 103,402. Cotton was less active and very irregular, although there is little disposition to operate aggressively against the controlling interest. Meanwhile, consumption steadily declines.

Official returns of foreign commerce for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, testify to the steady growth of our trade with other nations, the total value of merchandise imported and exported far surpassing all previous years, at $2,445,610,417. Imports made the most striking record, not only exceeding a billion dollars by $25,619,127 but showing a gain of $122,298,179 over the previous year's imports. As these goods were purchased abroad without in any way curtailing domestic production, it follows that consumption in this country has been at a marvelous pace. Meanwhile exports were well maintained, amounting to $1,319,991,290, which exceeded the previous year by $38,271,899, and compares favorably with every preceding year except the one ending June 30, 1901, when special factors were much in evidence, and home demands less urgent. Owing to the more rapid growth of imports, the balance of trade has been less heavily in favor of this country, although on merchandise account alone, there was a gain of $394,372,163.

Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for July, aggregated $5,644,655, of which $3,533,057 were in manufacturing, $1,608,636 in trading, and $462,962 in other commercial lines. Failures this week were 213 in the United States against 213 last year, and 16 in Canada compared with 20 a year ago.—Dun's Review.

People Who Can't Sleep.

Many people go to bed—not to sleep, but to think—to tumble and toss—to get up, walk about until tired nature gives way, and a few fitful hours of sleep are obtained just before dawn—a sleep that does not rest—a sleep from which one wakes weary and tired, wholly unfitted to take up the daily routine of household, shop or office duties. That this condition goes on uncared for, is almost criminal, when the well-known, time-tried and tested powers of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills to give restful, natural sleep, have been so fully proven in such cases.

Mr. C. R. Seeds, of 725 East Elm street, Lima, Ohio, says:

"Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are a fine medicine. They give one good steady nerves—good general strength and splendid sleep. We used the box we got at Melville's drug store, in two cases, and it was equally good in both cases. For nervous, weak, sleepless people, it is great, and we won't be without them in the future."

THE INDIAN WHO REMEMBERED

By H. A. Bruce
Copyright, 1902, by T. C. McClure

Sam Augustus was of the Algonquin tribe, a typical Indian of these days of reservations, lazy, shiftless and addicted to strong drink. As an Indian he was more or less despised by the white men with whom he came in contact, but was much too easy going to be disturbed by that. The possessor of a small farm on Georgina Island, he was so far true to the traditions of his ancestors as to allow Mrs. Sam Augustus to earn his living for him, which she cheerfully did, reaping harvest in the summer time by wearing baskets of sweet grass and reeds for the holiday seekers who annually visited Beaver-ton.

Beaverton was the most picturesque spot on the shores of Lake Simcoe, but Sam Augustus, on the occasions of his periodical visits to the mainland, never stopped to contemplate its various points of interest. There was but one attraction in the place for him, and that, it must be confessed with shame, was the bedroom of the Alexandra House.

Sam's visits to Beaverton, or, to be more exact, to the Alexandra House, usually terminated in his crawling into the loft of the hotel stable, there to sleep off the effects of the potent first-water he had imbibed. But on a Saturday night in June he enjoyed a novel experience.

Paul Wilson had come to the mill that day with a load of grain and had converted the grain not into flour, but into greasy bits of paper which he deemed far more useful. Then, as he was consumed with a great thirst and, moreover, had the wherewithal to slake it, he naturally turned his team toward the Alexandra House. Matters following in logical sequence, Paul Wilson developed ere aight into a drunken bully, with Sam Augustus the especial object of his hectoring. Sam, indeed, was in a fair way to get the beating of his life when Ed Daleton interfered. Daleton interfered to such an extent that Paul was escorted to the village hospital, while Sam Augustus, ready by that time to consent to any proposal, acceded to Daleton's request to go home with him and in the morning join the haymakers on the Daleton estate.

An hour later found Sam tucked into the most comfortable bed he had ever known. Ere morning came, however, the bed was empty. The Indian had already repented his rash promise to go to work. Still, he took away nothing but himself and his dirty clothes, wherefore, Daleton argued, he must have felt at least half way grateful.

The summer days passed away, and the autumn shadows lengthened into the blackness of winter, but Sam Augustus had not once appeared at the Alexandra House since that night in June. Whatever conjectures the habitants of the place might have hazarded concerning his absence were driven out of mind, however, by a series of occurrences which gave the villagers ample reason for not only much gossip, but also much alarm.

Thieves made their presence felt in that Sleepy Hollow of Canada. One burglary followed another in rapid succession. First it was the residence of the reeve that was visited; then it was the doctor's house and next the real estate office. In every case the cracksmen went about their work in a way that proved they were no novices. Of all this Sam Augustus was in profound ignorance. He and Mrs. Sam were now the only inhabitants of Georgina Island, the half dozen other Indians who comprised the normal population being away with some wild west show. For many moons Sam had remained at home with his wife, fighting manfully against his lust for drink, but at last a day came when Sam decided that he must yield or die. So with the setting of the sun he strapped on his skates and started over the ice to Beaverton.

He had gone but a few rods in the direction of the long pier, some six miles distant, when the brisk, snappy winter air gave him an insensate desire to make a circuit of Georgina Island before striking out for the mainland. Now, it was not such a difficult task that he had set himself, as Georgina is but three miles long by two wide.

He was passing a little cove on that side of the island farthest from his home when he noticed what looked uncommonly like a boat's sail tapping in the wind. This impressed Sam as being a bit out of the ordinary for midwinter, but what gave him a distinct shock was seeing a light in a log cabin that to his knowledge had been unoccupied for years.

There was enough of his ancestors' blood in his veins to make him wary, and he conjectured, not without reason, that whoever was in the old cabin had no right to be there. So he stooped down, unfastened his skates, slung them around his neck and, swift as a deer, ran to the shore of the cove. Cautiously he crept over the snow until he stood behind the cabin and looked in through a window.

Seated at a little table were two men, both keen visaged, both well dressed and both youthful. Overhead hung a dirty lantern. On the table between them was spread out a sheet of white paper, which they were examining with great interest.

"This," Sam heard one say, pointing to a mark on the paper, "is the veritable entrance I was telling you about. It leads straight into the old man's room, and they say he generally has a tidy sum around. Farther along here is a whiskey to one of the guest chambers, and we may pick up a sparkle or two in that room, for a big house party is on at Simcoe Lodge just now, and the wealthy Mrs. Vineland is one of the guests. The young fellow sleeps in that wing over there, so we need have no fear of arousing him. Then we'll back to our launch and be under cover again before they know we've paid 'em a visit."

Sam opened those little eyes of his wider. He was not overfrighted with an active brain, but the reference to Simcoe Lodge had sharpened his intellect. For Simcoe Lodge was the home of Ed Daleton, and had not Ed Daleton—Well, Sam Augustus drew closer to the cabin window.

The speaker's companion made no reply for some minutes. When he did speak, there was a tinge of bitterness to his words:

"I'm with ye, Rats. I agree with ye. But when's the bloomin' bis to end? They'll spot our lay soon, never fear, an' to my mind we'd better scoot down to Jackson's Point right away an' get back to Toronto from there."

"Bah!" rejoined the other. "We simply have got to turn this trick. Spud. Then I'm for home. Come, it'll be a good, dark night, and we can bag the game before midnight, for they danced until 7 this morning and are sure to be abed early."

Sam waited to hear no more. The men were thieves, and they intended robbing the home of the only white man who had ever befriended him. Oh, lazy, shiftless Sam Augustus, why do you hurry so?

For he was skating across the lake as he had never skated before. Twenty miles stretched between him and that part of the mainland where Simcoe Lodge stood, and he must be feet indeed to arrive before the boat. He knew he was getting a good start, but he knew, too, what an iceboat could do. Ah, lucky Sam Augustus, to find the ice smooth as glass instead of being caked and crusted with snow!

On, on through the night he raced. In his face blew the first gusts of a storm, but he plunged through the crystal flakes, his sinewy legs fairly flying over the level surface. Now he could see lights twinkling in the distance, and his Indian instinct told him they were from a farmhouse not far from the Daleton estate. Not a light could be seen from Simcoe Lodge itself, for a huge row of fir trees, wind breakers, screened the house from the lake blasts.

Sam swung along buoyantly. The next moment a hissing, whistling sound came to his ears, and he saw a flash of white glide past him, to be swallowed up in the darkness.

It was the boat. They would beat him yet. He dug his skates into the ice desperately and hurled himself forward. But in a minute or two he became hopeful again. It was yet too early for the burglars to begin work. He could easily arrive in time to warn the household.

On, on through the night he raced. Now he was floundering in snow banks that had drifted against the lake cliffs, now he was climbing up these rugged heights, now he had unstrapped his skates, and now, still tireless, he was bounding across the fields to give the alarm.

Not pausing to seek the gate into the Daleton grounds, he leaped the high fence that paralleled the fir trees only to alight upon a human body. Next moment he was grasped by no tender hands.

"Here, what's this?" he heard a voice exclaim. "Turn yer gim on, Rats. Here's a new kind of a party that comes tumblin' on to a man without so much as beg pardon."

Sam Augustus writhed desperately, but another pair of brawny hands seized him, and he was helpless, yet he kept up the struggle and as he fought shouted with all the strength of his red man's lungs:

"Thieves!"

"Blas't it, stop that!" commanded the voice. "Ye won't, eh? Then?"

There was a click and a report. Sam gave a groan and staggered back. Spud let him slip to the ground.

"I thought I'd stop ye," he muttered. "Say, Rats, I—"

Something bright flashed through the night. The Indian had risen to his knees. Spud fell, with the toe of a skate in his brain.

"Thieves!" shouted Sam.

In a yard of the old Free Kirk at Beaverton is a plain white shaft with this inscription:

Robson's Joke on His Friend.
Of Stuart Robson it is said that in his youth he was an incorrigible practical joker. He was traveling in England with a friend, a small man called Bill, one summer, and on the Liverpool train Bill fell asleep. While he slept Robson stole his ticket from his pocket. In a little while the conductor was to be seen approaching.

"Tickets, Bill! Get out your ticket!" Robson said.

Bill, after a frantic search, said, with an oath, that his ticket was lost. Robson then advised him to escape paying by hiding under the seat. This Bill decided to do, and when the conductor appeared he lay on his back on the dusty floor quite invisible.

Robson surrendered both tickets, whereupon the conductor said:

"Here are two tickets. Where is your friend, sir?"

"Under the seat there," the actor answered. "I don't know why he wanted to avoid you."

The conductor, surprised, looked under the seat, and Bill snifled at him sheepishly and then crawled awkwardly forth.—New York Tribune.

In History of the District

Is the Word

Brought Back by the Lima Brothers

Who Attended the Meeting of Odd Fellows at Beaver Dam Last Night.

A Splendid Program, a Fine Banquet and Exemplification of Work Which Every One Present Enjoyed.

The 25th district convention which was celebrated by the Odd Fellows of Lima and several surrounding towns, at Beaver Dam, last night, was the largest and most successful of the series. As predicted yesterday, there were close to 50 present from Lima, alone, and the total attendance was beyond the 200 mark. The brothers from home drove to Beaver Dam in hacks, and all sorts of conveyances, many of them making the few miles on their wheels, and all had returned by 12:30.

The program as published was carried out in detail, with a single exception, H. R. Coleman taking the place of A. B. Kimmey in the exemplification of the unwritten work in the initiatory degree. According to those who have praised the convention, the work was never better done and the schooling was such as to indicate the full force and strength of those who stand at the top of Odd Fellowship.

The program was followed by a banquet, served in the hall, and it was of the appetizing kind. Business matters, including appointments by President C. A. Graham, took up the latter part of the evening and the following announcements were made:

Vice Grand, W. A. Triplett, Bluffton; warden, W. A. Ehrmann, Lima; conductor, Roy Wetherill, Solar; chaplain, G. C. Binkley, Jackson Lodge, Lafayette; inside guard, Wilso Young, Beaver Dam; outside guard, Simon Fackler, Beaver Dam.

Social committee—F. W. Zenz, Beaver Dam; F. B. Colner, Beaver Dam; B. F. Klinger, Lafayette; Jasper Everett, West Cairo, A. L. Conrad, Bluffton; W. A. Ehrmann, Lima; Emmet Mummaugh, Allen; H. R. Coleman, Solar; Frank Wetherill, Deep Cut, Spencerville; Charles E. John, Elida.

The following lodges were largely represented, and others numbered as visiting brothers: Allen, and Solar of Lima; West Cairo, Bluffton, Lafayette and Elida.

The diamond will be leveled and rolled, the outfield will be improved and the grounds will be enclosed with a high board fence.

Mr. Westby has been endeavoring for some time to obtain permission to use the fair grounds for base ball contests, but the directors of the Driving Park Co. decline to permit the use of the grounds for Sunday base ball.

KENT,

Brakeman on P. Ft. W. & C., Killed

At Early Morn.

Sent Back to Flag the Trains

While Ditched Car on His Own Train Was Being Replaced

He Thoughtlessly Stepped on East-bound Track, and Is Believed to Have Been Struck by Passenger No. 15.

The mangled body of Charles F. Kent, Jr., was discovered lying on the Pennsylvania tracks, near Middle-point, Ohio, Sunday morning, conductor Thomas McBride and his crew making the discovery, as they were passing over the body with their freight train, says a despatch from the Ft. Wayne Sentinel.

The deceased was a member of conductor A. J. Tyler's crew, and the last seen of him alive, was when he took his lantern at shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday morning, and started out to flag east bound trains on account of the track being obstructed by a broken down car in the train of which he was one of the crew. On account of the accident west bound trains were run over the east bound track, and it is presumed that Mr. Kent had failed to bear this fact in mind, and that while he was looking ahead to flag a train going in the opposite direction, he was struck by passenger train No. 15. If this theory is the correct one, then passenger trains 5 and 25 and two freight trains passed over his body, the last one being in charge of conductor McArdle, who reported seeing the body, and a party was sent out to investigate and found the mangled remains as stated. The coroner of Van Wert county was notified, and after viewing the body, he ordered it taken up and sent to Fort Wayne, where it was prepared for burial at the Peltier undertaking establishment.

Joe Hopper in Texas.

The many friends of Joe Hopper who was for a number of years foreman of the boiler shop at the Lima Locomotive & Machine Co's. works, will be interested in the information that Joe is now running one of the largest boiler shops in the southwest. He is in charge of a shop at Beaumont, Texas, and several boilermakers of this city now contemplate joining him there.

Gives Up the Old Life.

Robert P. Stevenson, who has been a passenger conductor on the southern division of the C. H. & D. for 18 years, has resigned and engaged in the restaurant business at Hamilton. He has purchased the C. H. & D. eating house and will devote his entire attention to his new departure. Stevenson was one of the most popular conductors on the road, and was given a train when but 18 years of age. He is well-known in Lima, having had charge, for many years of the pay car when it made its monthly trips. His departure from the road takes a good man from the corps, but his many friends cannot but wish him success in his new venture.

Crippled Again.

C. H. & D. engine No. 101 is back in the shops after a relapse. It has only been a short time since the switch engine was released for duty, after being fully repaired, but Saturday night she was sent plowing into a cut of cars and her pilot and head end stove in.
